

30 April 1970

I want to express my sincere appreciation for the excellent [redacted] presentation provided for my associates and myself on 29 April 1970.

Our organization relies heavily on computer support and all our people in attendance found the educational experience most worthwhile and cited the excellence of the presentation. I hope that additional people from our organization will be able to attend your Washington Presentation Center in the future.

A special thanks to you and [redacted] for making the arrangements for our group. We appreciate your hospitality as well as your willingness to provide this educational presentation to our people.
